

Wasatch Has Announced Portfolio Manager Changes for Several Funds and Strategies

Salt Lake City, Utah, January 31, 2020—Wasatch Global Investors has announced portfolio manager changes for several mutual funds and related institutional strategies. As part of a long-term succession plan, Roger Edgley has stepped away from his role as a Portfolio Manager, while he remains active on the Wasatch Board of Directors and as the firm's Director of International Research.

Also announced today is the promotion of Jagjit Sahota to Portfolio Manager and Austin Bone and Derrick Tzau to Associate Portfolio Manager. These new titles recognize the contributions, dedication and growing roles of Jagjit, Austin and Derrick. Additionally, two members of the firm's international research team, Andrey Kutuzov and Jared Whatcott, have left the firm to pursue other opportunities. Full details of the changes are included in the table below.

Risks

Mutual fund investing involves risks and loss of principal is possible. Investing in small or micro cap funds will be more volatile and loss of principal could be greater than investing in large cap or more diversified funds. Investing in foreign securities, especially in emerging markets, entails special risks such as currency fluctuations and political uncertainties, which are described in more detail in the prospectus. Being non-diversified, the International Select Fund can invest a larger portion of its assets in the stocks of a limited number of companies than a diversified fund. Non-diversification increases the risk of loss to the Fund if the value of these securities decline. The investment objective of the Funds is long-term growth of capital. The International Select Fund is new and has a limited operating history.
